

One-Page Service Sheet

Source-verified factual research briefs for insolvency, recovery, and dispute professionals.

IRIS produces written, citation-backed factual briefs drawn from public and lawfully accessible sources. Each brief is built to sit on a professional file: dated, sourced, and precise. Instructing professionals use IRIS to establish a verified factual record before committing time, fees, or further steps on a matter.

How IRIS works

Instruction is taken in writing against a single defined scope question. Third-party search and registry fees are passed through at cost within an agreed disbursement cap. Deliverables are written briefs only; every factual claim is tied to a numbered source with retrieval date and confidence note. Where the public record is silent, partial, or inconsistent, the brief records that on its face.

IRIS provides factual research and public-record evidence collation for qualified professionals. Briefs are not legal advice, are not a legal opinion, and contain no recommendation as to how the law applies to the facts. Findings are limited to public and lawfully accessible sources at the date of retrieval; absence of a record is not proof of absence. Recipients remain responsible for independent verification and for all professional judgments made on a matter.
